Pastor's Corner

In Loving Memory of Louis Hauck – Greatly missed, greatly loved.

Back in September, I gave this sermon during Suicide Awareness week. I think we can all agree that it's worth being reminded of how important Suicide Awareness is. It was early June 2019. I knew I was headed to Show Low for my first appointment at White Mountain UMC. I knew I needed to complete licensing school before I arrived there so I could administer communion on my very first Sunday. The only school that really worked for me was in the West Ohio conference in mid-July.

I registered and ordered all the materials I would need.

Looking through all of the books I needed to read, one stood out. It was written by a man named Fe Anam Avis. An unusual name, and a title that grabbed my attention. "A Second Day: A Hopeful Journey Out of Suicidal Thinking." Whoa...that weighed on me. It struck me. Of course, as a pastor, I could face this issue.

The book followed the story of someone who attempted suicide. The title of the book a second day refers to the day after someone has either not gone through or is unsuccessful with committing suicide.

In licensing school 4 hours were devoted to discussing suicide. One of the questions they asked was, "What are you going to do about it?"

Why should we as a church family care about the topic of suicide? Because it is perhaps the most misunderstood form of death we encounter. Because it is one of the top 10 causes of death in the United States. Just last year the number of suicide related deaths in the US surpassed 50,000. Let's look at some of the local facts from a study the Arizona Health Department conducted on suicides from 2011 to 2021.

The number of suicide deaths has increased every year. Men were more likely to commit suicide than women.

In Arizona, the suicide mortality rate in in 2021 was 5 points higher per 100,000 than the national rate. Men were 4 ½ times more likely to commit suicide than women. The largest increases in suicide rates were among adults ages 25-34 and 65-74. Only 2 ages groups showed a decline in suicide rates, 55-64 and 75 or older. At 59.7 %, suicide death by a firearm was overwhelmingly the number one method. By 66.3%, the number one place to commit suicide? The home.

By county, Apache County ranks highest in Arizona with a suicide rate of 65.1 deaths per 100,000. Where does Mohave County stand? 32 deaths per 100,000. 5th highest in the state. From an ethnic standpoint, Native Americans were the number one ethnic group, with white non-Hispanics coming in second. Number one method of suicide by these ethnic groups? Native Americans chose hanging by 66.4% and non-hispanic whites chose firearms by 57.8%.

This isn't a problem in someone else's neighborhood. Just look at the numbers for Mohave County!

A Message from Our Lay Leader

What Good Are We?

When I was 10 or 11 years old, I like to play with the kids down the street. They were all smaller than I was. I was about 145 pounds and 5 1/2 feet tall. The smallest of them was about 5 years old. She liked to scream and wanted me to scare her. I picked her up and threatened to put her in the wood pile with all of the snakes and spiders. She would giggle and laugh and scream. It was all good. We did this many times. One day though, I realized it had changed. She was actually scared, not laughing. I got a huge rush knowing I could really scare someone like that. I felt powerful. It was like a drug. I knew it was wrong and I stopped. I never did it again.

Looking back as an adult, I realized that those feelings I had were what caused serial killers and rapists to develop. The seeds of that were in me.

We are all one in the Spirit. The worst of all people is in me. The best of all people is in me. The Native Americans have a saying...there are two wolves in you, which one will you feed. Judgement of each other is not for us. This person is good, that person is bad.

Our job is to love each other. We were born to love. Great freedom comes to us when we can learn to just love others as we are taught to do. God will judge. God also knows hearts and how to judge.

Feed the part of yourself that wants to just love.

Terry Crawford
Lay Leader

When I was growing up, I was taught that suicide was THE unforgiveable sin. There was no question of where that person was going. Oddly, as I have read my bible over and over again, I don't see any area that confirms this to be true. So then what are we to believe about suicide?

Think about how we approach any other type of death. Cancer, heart attack, stroke. Those who succumb to these deaths are honored. But families who lose a loved one to suicide are almost relegated to remember that person with dishonor. Airs of hush, unhealthy quiet, unclean grief permeate even suffocate the air of a memorial service. Back in Sahuarita a friend at Santa Cruz UMC had to experience the unthinkable when his son became part of the statistical data for suicides that year. At that time, he posted an article that outlined the most beautiful and I believe healthy way to look at suicide. Here are 5 points made by Ron Rolheiser, a priest in the Missionary Oblates of Mary Immaculate.

1. In most cases, suicide is the result of a disease, a sickness, an illness, a tragic breakdown within the emotional immune system.
2. For most suicides, the person dies, as does the victim of any terminal illness or fatal accident, not by his or her own choice. When people die from heart attacks, strokes, cancer, and accidents, they die against their will. Don't you think the same is true in suicide?
3. We should not worry about the eternity of a suicide victim, believing that suicide is the ultimate act of despair. God's hands are infinitely more understanding and gentler than our own. God's understanding and compassion exceeds our own.
4. We should not second-guess ourselves when we lose a loved one to suicide: What might we have done? Where did we let this person down? What if? If only we'd been there at the right time! Rarely would this have made a difference. Most of the time, we weren't there for this very reason. The suicidal person did not want us to be there. He or she picked the moment, the spot, and the means precisely so we wouldn't be there. Now this isn't an excuse for insensitivity, merely a healthy check against false guilt and fruitless second-guessing.
5. We must help the loved ones who remain here redeem the memory of those who die by suicide. This method of death should not be a false prism by which we see their lives. A good person is a good person. A sad death does not change that.

How do we as United Methodists look at suicide? Here are some thoughts from our revised social principles from GC 2020.

"Our conviction that life is a sacred gift, along with persistent questions and concerns about potential abuse, lead us as a church to oppose both euthanasia and suicide while continuing our ministries of mercy with families who are affected by such actions...We believe that suicide does not bar people from God's grace, which is all-sufficient. We urge pastors and local congregations to establish appropriate protocols in responding to people considering suicide and the survivors of suicide attempts...Rather than ostracizing or condemning survivors or family members affected by suicide, we urge pastors and congregations to provide compassion and support to these people."

We've looked at data, we've reframed what suicide is, we've looked at scripture, we've looked briefly at our United Methodist view of suicide. What is left? How about some ways to expand suicide awareness.

Let's start by looking at a video of a Golden Gate Bridge jump survivor.

VIDEO

Are there warning signs? Yes, there are. People considering suicide talk about or make plans for suicide. They may act anxious and agitated. They may talk about being a burden, about feeling trapped or in unbearable pain. They may increase their use of alcohol or drugs. They might sleep too little or too much. You might find them withdrawing or feeling isolated.

Is there such a thing as effective suicide prevention? Church family, make no mistake, we are a first line of defense for people who are facing life struggles. They come to a church looking to find hope, meaning, and purpose. They come knowing that what they've been trying isn't sustainable. A church seems to offer sustainable measures of hope, meaning, and purpose.

Can we do this? Can we commit to being a sustainable measure of hope, meaning, and purpose. Can we be an important part of effective suicide prevention? I believe we can. I believe it is our mandate. If this is speaking to you and you'd like to help create an effective suicide prevention program at St. Johns, let's talk. (I'm serious!)

A Message from Our Finance Director

A Message from Our Finance Director

Hello Fellow Brothers and Sister's in Christ

Here is the monthly financial report for the year end (2024). General fund giving for the month of December was $12,510.65. Miscellaneous income for the month was $766.86.

Total income for December 2024 was 13,277.51. Our expenses for the month of December were $39,261.56, giving us a negative net income of -$25,984.05. Our negative net income is much larger this month than in months past because I paid the remaining balance on our apportionments which was $15,000.00

Our general fund income for the year was $141,657.51 and other income was 42,471.38, giving us a total revenue for 2024 $184,128.87. Our profit and loss report shows that we had a negative net income of -$129,899.91 for the year.

Our budget for 2024 was $352,222 and we spent 93.2% of our budget.

I am praying that 2025 will bring an increase in general fund giving, so that we are able to close the gap in our expenses to income. I was reminded this morning in my devotion of Paul's call to generous giving in 2 Cor 8:2, where Paul is telling the Corinthians about the Macedonian's giving and it says, "They are being tested by many troubles, and they are very poor. But they are also filled with abundant joy, which has overflowed in rich generosity." The Macedonian's had a very trusting and faithful relationship with Jesus and for this reason, even though they were poor, they were compelled to be generous in their giving because they were filled with the Holy Spirit. They remembered the sacrifice that Jesus made on the cross with his death and resurrection and they trusted that He would provide for their daily needs, so they were generous in their giving to help the Christians in Jerusalem. How is your relationship with Christ? Are you trusting that He will meet your daily needs? Are you filled with abundant joy because you are filled with the Spirit, giving you the desire to be a generous giver? Pray that the Spirit would fill you with abundant joy, so that it will overflow into generous giving, so that you can experience the faithfulness of Jesus in your life.

Blessings,

Tracy Sheehy
